

Can I Adopt My Treatment Foster Child?

Each child in Treatment Foster Care has a plan for them to have a permanent family. Sometimes the plan is to return to their biological family. Sometimes the court determines that this is not possible. In these cases, Treatment Foster Families may be considered as an adoptive resource for the child. The Arc NCR has helped several families to adopt their foster children.